Our Lord Jesus Christ, King of the Universe

Christ the Universal King

'So you are a king, then?,' said Pilate.

This feast has its origin in 1920 when the Pope at the time faced with much social chaos in Europe – at the overthrow and assassinations of kings and emperors in Portugal, Spain, Austria-Hungary and Russia – in the previous decade. This past decade marked the centenary of much disorder and war in Europe. Hence the decade witnessed the overthrow and destruction of the royal houses of Europe – or if they continued to exist - were all reduced at best to being symbolic figureheads. This massive upheaval in a short space of time changed the face of Europe and ushered in a 'brave new world'. People's potential blind loyalty to the newly founded States, however, be they republics or parliamentary democracies (and Communist as well as fascist dictatorships) was in real danger of eclipsing their prior loyalty to God's will and kingdom. Indeed the Church was suffering already and would continue to suffer anti-clericalism and persecution in the backlash against the unfortunate prevailing or perceived clericalism.

The response was to establish the Feast of Christ the King, as a reminder to all Christians of Christ's ultimate Lordship over all people and history, and His universal and everlasting reign - to remind us of our ultimate calling and destiny if we choose to accept it.

The Kingship of Christ does not have any physical or geographical boundary. But He is the universal King and, as the hymn has it, He is 'king of all hearts'. This may perhaps seem as romantic, symbolic or a remote and abstract concept to us, yet the prayer of all Christians is the Our Father, where we always say Thy Kingdom Come, and then we say thy will be done. They are actually one and the same request or petition. God's kingdom can be seen and is manifested where His will is seen to be done in individuals, families, communities and in institutions and societies at large. We are promoting God's kingdom by following His commandments and obeying the just laws of the State.

The kingdom of God is within – it is our choice to want to do His will above ours, or at least to conform what we want as we consider if it is what God would truly want for us. The kingdom of God, in the words of the Preface for the Feast tells us that it is meant to be

'...an eternal and universal kingdom,
A kingdom of truth and life
A kingdom of holiness and grace,
A kingdom of justice, love and peace.'

Changing Funeral Practices.

Many of you will have noticed the long held customs concerning wakes and funerals have changed dramatically almost overnight. Gone are the long lines of people outside a funeral home waiting to offer their condolences to the bereaved. Most people now offer their condolences online.

Eulogies are to be removed from the Funeral Mass.

A eulogy could also be placed on line, e.g. Facebook, where it could be seen by many people in their own time.

This is more appropriate and it would also remove any stress from the person who feels obliged to talk at the end of a funeral Mass. Speeches at weddings are not given during the Mass but afterwards at a reception.

Where requested, a "Thank you" list could be read by the celebrant.

Can I continue to pray and gain indulgences for the Faithful Departed?

While Level 5 restrictions do make an allowance for a visit to a grave during this time, the Church - and the parish clergy - are keenly aware of difficulties people face in observing the customs associated with this time of year especially Masses for the Holy Souls and offering public prayers in cemeteries. This year there will be no official public prayers in the cemeteries themselves but prayer will be offered online at 2 pm this Sunday from St Mary's for the Faithful Departed of Mallow and Mourneabbey parishes. You may wish to visit the graves of loved ones in our own time on these Sundays.

The Vatican has recently published new guidelines that take into account the difficulties people are encountering in customarily visiting a cemetery and praying for the dead to gain the Indulgence from November 1st-8th. You may now offer your prayers on any day of November to gain the Plenary Indulgence applicable to the souls of the dead. If you are prevented from visiting a grave you can offer mental prayer and set prayers such as the Rosary or Divine Mercy chaplet of Morning or Evening Prayer of the Church from the Office of the Dead.

Confessions are available at the usual times in St Mary's on Saturdays and Church of the Resurrection on Fridays
